To our Phenomenex Customers,

Children around the world have started a movement to spread joy by posting rainbow drawings and paintings on their windows at home.

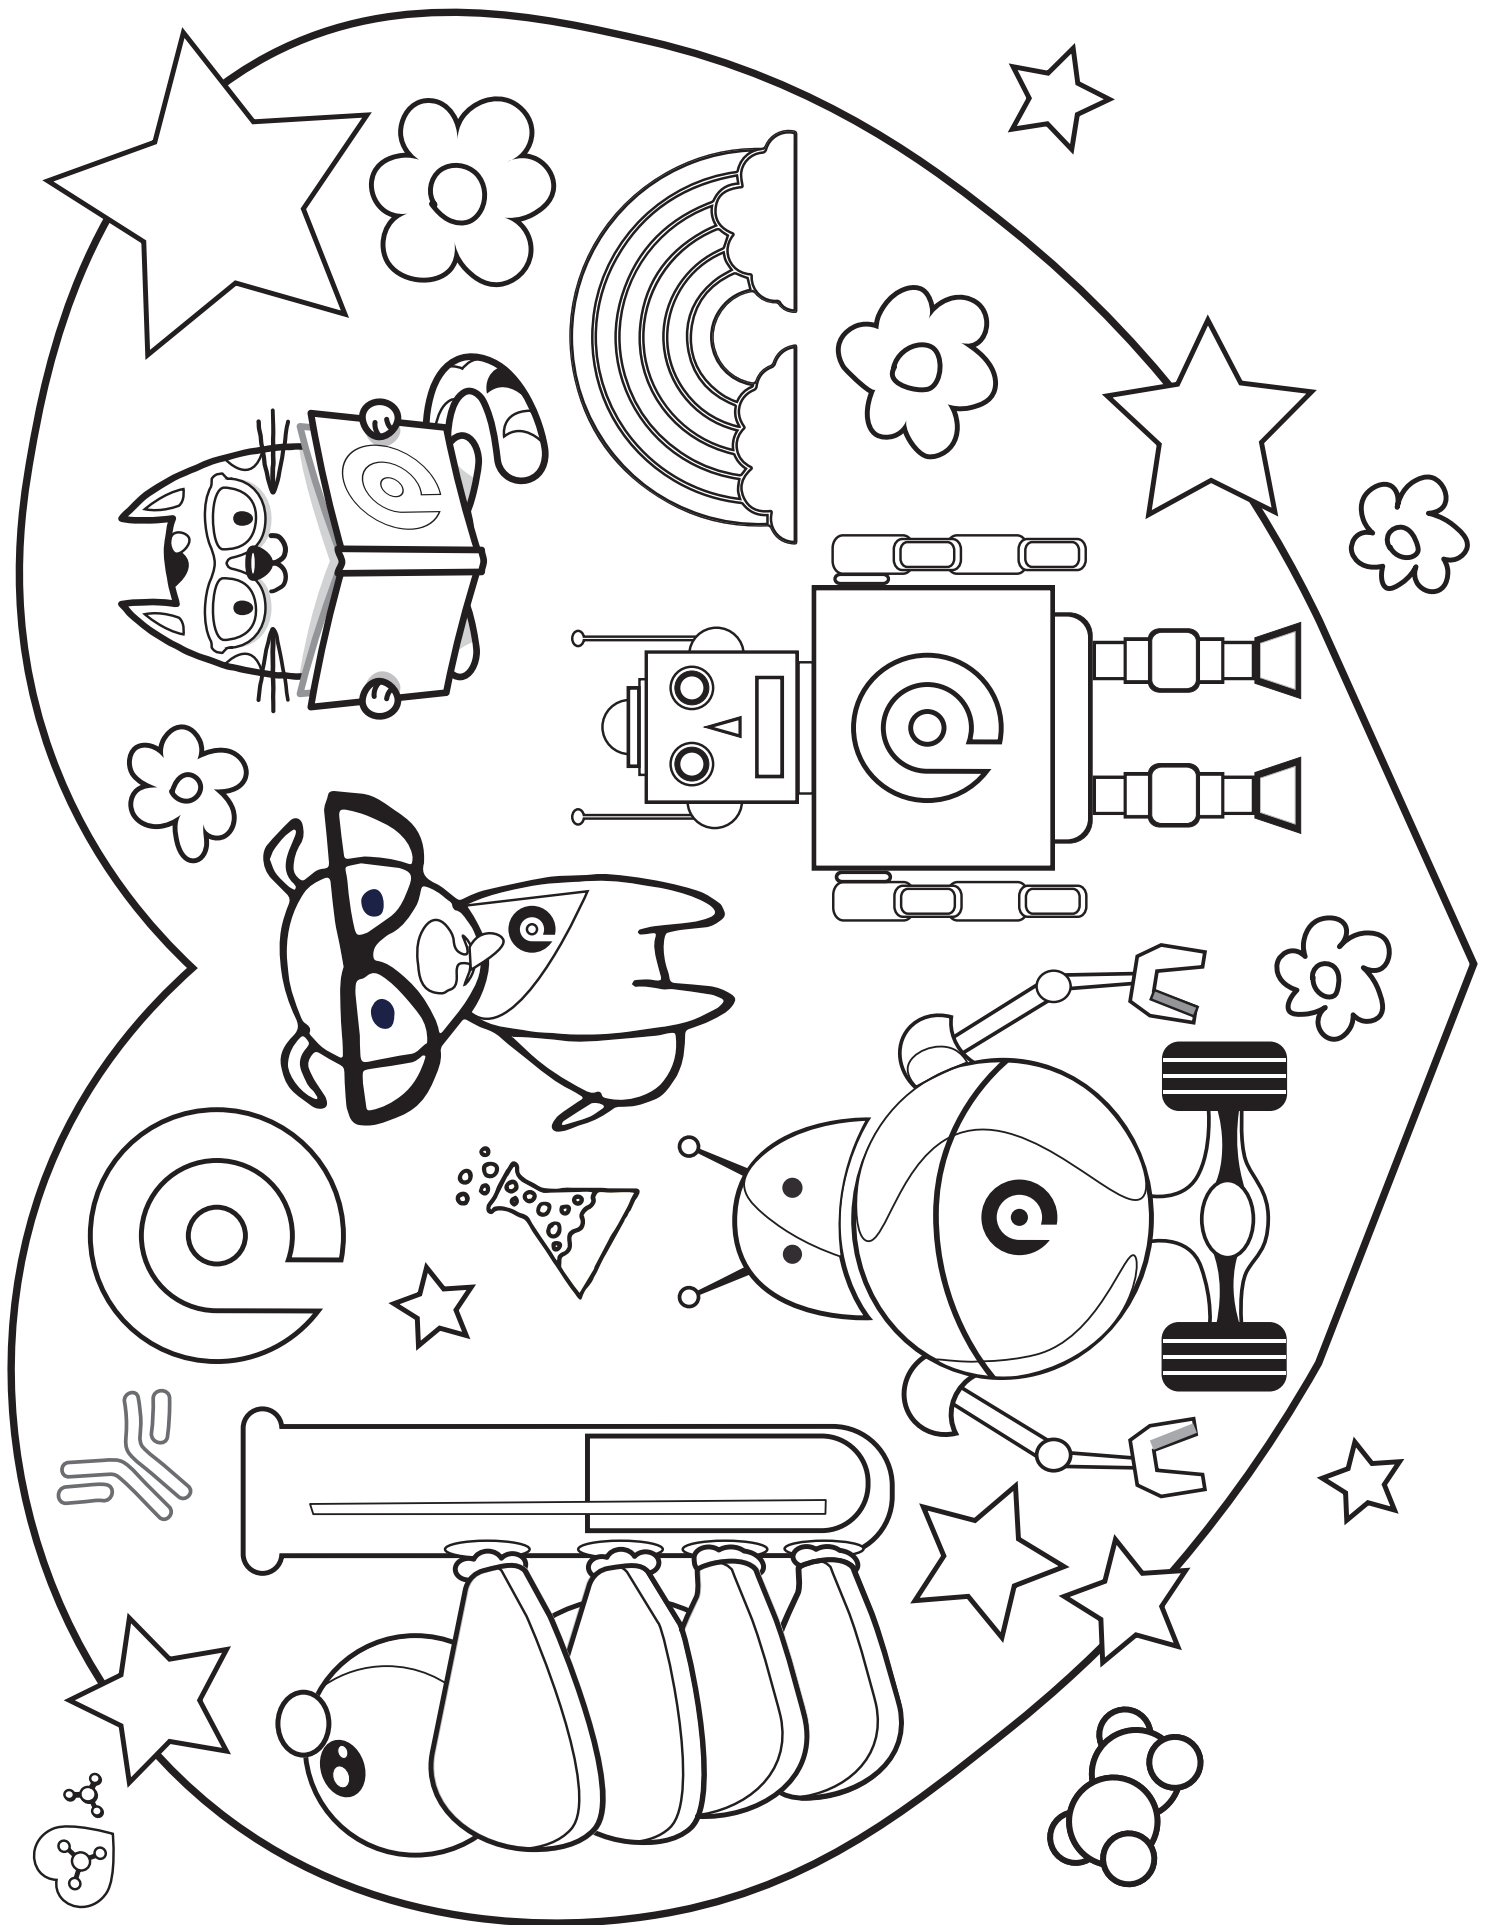

These drawings and paintings of rainbows began as personal messages of positivity to uplift their neighbors and people passing by, but instead, it became a movement that has inspired the entire world.

We stand with children around the world in this simple but important effort, and we stand with our extended Phenomenex family, which includes our customers, employees, partners, and suppliers to spread a little Phenomenex Joy.

This NerdLife Coloring Activity Book is for everyone to enjoy, no matter how old you are. Post your colorful drawings on your window and continue to spread joy!
